Overview

Cayley Crane counsels high net worth individuals and families on all aspects of trust and estate planning, including tax planning, asset protection planning, and charitable tax planning. She has experience preparing wills, trusts, and other sophisticated estate planning documents. In planning for the future, Cayley works with clients in an effort to achieve their personal estate planning objectives to bring them peace of mind. In addition, Cayley has experience assisting clients with the administration of large estates, involving post-mortem tax planning and complicated family dynamics. She understands that the estate administration process can be challenging, especially in the wake of the loss of a loved one, but she works to guide clients through the process, ease concerns, and provide support during such a difficult time.

Cayley obtained her Master of Law degree from the University of Miami Heckerling Graduate Program in Estate Planning. She received her Juris Doctor degree and Straus Institute for Dispute Resolution Certificate from the Pepperdine University School of Law.

While in law school, Cayley held several legal intern positions, including for the Federal Trade Commission and the Los Angeles District Attorney's Office.
