Overview

Cheryl advises clients involved in residential and commercial real estate development and finance, including mixed-use and waterfront projects. She has extensive experience in representing landlords and tenants in commercial leasing, representing contractors and owners in the preparation and negotiation of construction contracts, representing developers and associations in the preparation and amendment of homeowners' association documents, and the creation of residential and commercial condominiums.

Notably, Cheryl counsels condominium, cooperative and homeowners' associations, including those which are both developer and unit-owner-controlled, on transactional, operational and corporate matters. She is responsible for interpreting and amending governing documents, assisting with board member elections, recalls and related arbitrations, drafting contracts and contract addenda, pursuing appropriate legal action to address violations of restrictive covenants, and assisting with termination of the association and the sale of the underlying property.

Cheryl takes pride in providing prompt and effective counsel to her clients. She is dedicated to listening carefully to what each client wants to achieve and is creative in her approach to realizing that result. Her focus on providing legal solutions that are grounded in practical business know-how is further supported by her dedication to responsiveness, strong communication skills, and a higher and more personal level of commitment to her client's specific needs.

Cheryl is AV-rated by Martindale Hubbell and recognized by The Best Lawyers in America 2023 for Community Association Law and Real Estate Law in the Fort Myers, Florida metropolitan area. She joined the firm in 2023 and has practiced law in Southwest Florida since 2002.
