Overview

Laura has significant experience with large-scale litigation, which allows her to help clients develop and execute effective, defensible approaches to eDiscovery issues. She draws on her prior experience as a litigation partner at a global firm, where she represented clients in a broad range of complex disputes and regulatory matters. Laura regularly speaks on eDiscovery topics, and she designed a course in eDiscovery for Indiana University's McKinney School of Law. She teaches the course as adjunct faculty, and she has also taught courses in Toxic & Environmental Torts and Legal Writing.

Laura earned her J.D., magna cum laude, from Georgetown University Law Center, where she was Managing Editor of The Georgetown Law Journal. She received her B.A., summa cum laude, from the University of Pennsylvania.
