Overview

Melanie Senosiain is an associate in the Tampa office.

Melanie represents clients in a variety of matters with a focus on business litigation. Following her graduation from Cornell Law School, Melanie clerked for the Honorable Judge Edward C. LaRose of the Second District Court of Appeal. Melanie takes pride in working on complex matters while maintaining a focus on the big and small issues alike. Melanie is committed to providing clients with a positive but realistic attitude and focus on detail in an effort to obtain favorable results in nonfinal and final motions alike. She is also passionate about community involvement including pro bono as an Attorney ad Litem.

Outside of the office, Melanie enjoys spending time outdoors with her family, including biking with her family through local parks and neighborhoods. Melanie also loves to try out new restaurants in the community—especially family-owned restaurants.
