Overview

Ryan Childress is an attorney who uses a client-centered approach to legal representation. He focuses on the legal needs of his clients and aims to collaborate with his colleagues and clients to achieve the best outcomes, whether inside or outside the courtroom. Ryan centers his practice around business and commercial litigation. Because of Ryan's law school internships at the Alachua County Public Defender's Office and the District Court for the Southern District of Florida, Ryan is confident speaking on behalf of clients in both state and federal courtrooms.

As a classically trained pianist and carillonneur, Ryan developed the skills and patience to thoroughly prepare for every aspect of a performance. He translates this skill to his legal practice by preparing for every aspect of his clients' legal needs.
